Secretary Lane yesterday decided to drop the Sait River project for the present and began consideration of the Yuma project in Arizona and the Sunnyside project, in Washington.

Newell is Attacken. Frank F. Morris, representing the Sunnyside water users, attacked director Newell, of the reclamation service, because on one of his visits to the Sunnyside project he had declined to give personal consideration to certain affidavits of waters as to the management of the project.

of the project.

Subsequently Mr. Newell explained that the questions referred to were such as ought to be considered by the secretary of the interior, as they involved the efficial conduct of an employe of the reclaimation service. Mr. Morris had said that the officer in question, washed in an investigation Director Newell developed the fact that the investigation had not been conducted by the secretary, or the interior himself.

Mr. Morris had no complaints to make of the management of the project at this time. In response to an inquiry by secretary Lane, he said he thought the Sunnyside water users might be willing to take over the project themselves, provided they were given a reasonable time in which to make their deferred payments.

Ornic on the Stand.

When John P. Ornic, president of the Salt River Valley Water Ceers association, was on the stand, he described himself as an "old Irrigator" in Arisona, but doubtless used the expression in a strictly agricultural sense. It is understood, however, that Mr. Ornic has a gun with notches on it, and that time was when farming was less intensive in Arisona—but that is another story. At all events, various senators and representatives, and others, kept him busy answering questions, both leading and otherwise, for over two hours. In general, they didn't get much astisfaction from Mr. Orme, who seemed loath to help anybody to prove any of the things they wanted to get "out of their systems" Orme on the Stand.

Texas Aguinst the Service, Representative Callaway, of Texas, who sat with the chairman of the committee on expenditures in the interior department, had a great deal to say, and an outsider could easily gather that, if he had said it all, there wouldn't be left in the outsider's mind much respect for the reciamation service. Although F. H. Newell, chief of the reclamation service; Arthur P. Davis, the chief engineer, and several of their right-hand men were there and all seemed attentive, they had little to say.

Senator Shafroth was present, but was apparently waiting for Colorado to be reached. Senator Newlands made an effort to get from Mr. Orme a general outlibe of the history of the Salt river project, and all points wherein the Water Users' association find fault with the government work. Mr. Orme's idea seemed to be that the Water Users' association could do certain parts of the

Orme's Objections,

Neither he nor George Christy, attorney for the association, who followed on the stand, seemed to doubt the ability of the government to construct dams and build canals, either large or small.

Their chief complaint is against the administration of irrigation works. Mr. Orme likes the construction works of the government engineers, but he does not like the way the reciamation service makes the owners of land now cultivated pay for new construction which will put more land under irrigation. These payments are made for "betterments" under the heading of maintanance charges. To this Mr. Christy objects.

Senators Works, Fall and Smoot questioned witnesses, but left with other senators to uttend executive session. The reclamation service did not seem Secretary Lane states that the conference now being held is primarily to educate himself. He says that before and after the present administration came in the air had been filled with criticisms of the reclamation service at the work of the reclamation service as the most important work that the people have every undertaken within the United States.

Secretary Lane feels that in a fair consideration of so harge a subject, involving as it does interests so important and diverse, the possibility for differences of judgment and self-interest are great. Therefore, as he said, the state of mind is as important as the state of the soil. He desired all concerned to get untruth out of their systems and take pains to tell not only the truth, but the whole truth.

Insurance Companies Insist Policy Holders Will Pay Greater Premiums.

MONDELL DENOUNCES 'FREE RAGS' OF WORLD

W ASHINGTON, D. C., May 6.— The administration and inbill were taken up today when the house convened. Both sections are important portions of the bill with many pages of details that puzzle new members, but their adoption virtually intact was confidently counted upon by Democratic leaders.

The preferential of five percent upon creign goods brought in American octioms and the strenuous objections of insurance companies against the income tax on the ground that the policy holders will be ultimately burdened with greater premiums, were insues ahead when the bill was taken Mondell Fights "Free Rugs."

Mondell Fights "Free Ruga."

Representative Mondell got permission to offer an amendment providing that all rags imported must be cleaned and sterilized and delivered a diatribe on "Democratic rags."

"The Democrats propose to admit free of duty." he shouted, "the rags of the world. Rags from the harems of Turkey, rags from the slams of London, rags from the purilicus of Naples and Rome, rags from choiera and bubonic plague camps of the Balkan peninsula will be given to our people free. I know of nothing mere logical in a Democratic tariff bill than free rags. We must have the rags of all the world to come here to clothe our people, driven from employment by the Democratic tariff rates."

Representative Underwood pointed out that Mr. Mondell's amendment was unnecessary, because the rags were cleaned before being admitted to this country.

Free Flour Defended.

Free Flour Defended.

Republicans from the northwest attacked the tree wheat and flour provisions of the bill.

Representative Underwood defended free fleur, declaring that the northwest would not be injured and an amendment to the bill was defeated. Efforts to take lumber from the free list and alter the wood pulp and print paper schedules were finally defeated.

Deflections Over Free Wool.

The wool paragraph in the free fist brought about a deflection from the solid front of the Democrats. Representative Sharp, of Ohio, representing Democrats opposed to free wool, offered an amendment placing a duty of 29 nercent on raw wool, the rate fixed by the Underwood bill of the last congress. Representative Fordney attacked the free wool 'provision. Various amendments, including one to place all manufactures of woel on the free list were defeated. Deflections Over Free Wool, ticles the Underwood bill would admit free. Only a few minor amendments proposed by the ways and means committee Democrats were adopted.

Republican opposition centered about the paragraps admitting free of dury coal, fron ore, cotton, wool, wheat, flotr, corn, buckwheat, wood pulp and print paper, meals, lumber, leather, potatoes, works of art, fish, steel rulls, harbed wire and dairy products. All of the amendments offered were argued in a more or less perfunctory fashion, and the sweltering majority, forced to remain in their seats in the hall where the temperature soured, drowned each succeeding Republican propostion in a deluge of "noes."

WHI Sufeguard Health, Will Safeguard Health.

The Democrats rejected an amendment offered by representative Good, of lows, to provide for ante-morten inspection of foreign meats. Free listing meat, Mr. Good pointed out, would repeal the provisions in the present law for such inspection and he insisted that voting down his amendment would result in flooding the country with discretification. result in flooding the country with dis-cased ment from rejected cattle. Representative Underwood declared the Republicans overlooked a provision of the pure food law requiring inspec-tion certificates satisfactory to the sco-retary of agriculture on all meat im-ported. If this law had any loopholes in it, he said, the Democrats would pass one that would absolutely safeguard American health.

Wants Tariff on Bibles. An unsuccessful effort was made by epresentative Moore, of Pennsylvania, have Bibles taken from the free list, e paid tribute to the scriptures, but tid he saw no reason why Bibles of foreign manufacture should be admitted free of duty for sale, in this country. Representative Stevens, of Minnesota, wanted barness and saddlery pu on the dutiable list and representative Gardner, of Massuchusetts, and others sought to impose duties on hoots and shoes. From the north, official reports say rebels have been defeated at Villa. Aldama, near Monterey.

While the robels were engaging the federals at Cuernavaca, which is the center of Zapata's operations, Mexico City was celebrating with a big military parade the anniversary of the battle of Fuebla in 1882.

The first attack on Carolina, a suburb of Cuernavaca, was repulsed by Gen. Rasgado with Infantry, supported by artillery. The second attack was from the direction of San Antonio, a village separated from Cuernavaca by a canal. Fighting occurred across this and the federals used artillery and machine guns and forced the rebels to retire to the hills.

All the strategic points around Cuernavaca are fortified.

R EYES'S Boys' Band will play a concert in Cleveland square next Friday evening complimentary to the recole of El Proevening complimentary to the people of El Paso. The concert has been arranged by the El Paso Herald for this date and the program will be a select one. Prof. Reyes has worked hard for the past three years getting his boys into shape as musicians and now has an excellent musical organization. He plans to try and arrange for weekly concerts for the band following this one, which The Herald has arranged for. He will solicit the merchants for funds to keep the concert going. He will play weekly concerts for $65 a week, and a dollar apiece from 65 business houses each week would pay it. It seems as if there should be no difficulty about making the arrangement so that El Paso could have a concert a week. If the military band is arranged for, the Reyes concert might still be held, giving the a unic lovers two concerts a week. Anyhow, come out and hear the band next "riday night and decide for yourselves if it is worth keeping up.
